Honberer. This is the best work of the kind that we have ever seen, and we commend it to all musical people.

A PROTESTANT PIG.—An Irish woman in Bristol, a few days since, missed her pig, and after diligent enquiry learned that it was in possession of a highly respectable citizen of the town. She straight away called upon him, when he informed her that that the pig had broken through a window into the Episcopal church, where his pugship was found, and if she would pay five dollars damages, she could have the pig. She replied, "The pig and the church may go to the devil. I'll pay no five dollars for him if he has turned Protestant.—Prov. Post.

LOVE.—Love is as necessary to a woman's heart as a fashionable bonnet to her head. Indeed, we think, rather more so; for nothing less than a large measure of love will content her; whereas the recent fashion has shown that she can be satisfied with a very little bonnet.

PERIODICALS.—The approach of a new year, when new volumes of Messrs. L. Scott & Co.'s reprints of the British periodicals will be commenced, is a fitting time to call attention to their merits. Their lists of reprints included the Quarterly, the Edinburgh, the North British, and the Westminster Reviews, and Blackwood's Magazine. The Quarterly, which was long under the management of Lockhart, the son-in-law of Sir Walter Scott, is now edited by the Rev. Whitewell Elwyn, who displayed so much ability as a contributor to the Review, that Lockhart strongly recommended him as his successor. Sir E. Bulwer Lytton, the great novelist, is one of the chief contributors to the Quarterly, which maintains its high reputation as the representative of English Conservatism.—The Edinburgh, which since its former editor, Sir George Cornwall Lewis, was appointed Chancellor of the Exchequer, has been edited by Mr. Reeve, is still the same earnest and unsparing advocate of Whig principles as in the days of Sydney Smith and Lord Jeffrey. The North British is conducted by Professor Fraser, with the aid of an unrivaled corps of contributors, among whom are Archibald Whately, Dr. Whewell, Sir David Brewster, Rev. Charles Kingsley, Professors Cunningham and Blackie, the Duke of Argyll, and others eminent in literature, science and theology. The Westminster, called "liberal," is in fact radical and infidel, and is edited with originality and ability worthy of better principles. Its quarterly summary of English and foreign literature, is, however, a valuable feature. Blackwood, though as surely Tory as ever, is conducted so admirably in all respects except its politics, that it is no where more popular than in this country. The reprints of all these publications can be had for ten dollars a year, little more, we believe, than it would cost to import one of them; while the American publishers' arrangements for producing advance sheets enable them to place the reprints in the hands of readers here almost as soon as the original editions can be obtained. The most learned, ingenious and eloquent writers of Great Britain are engaged on these Reviews, and their carefully elaborated articles are of great value in guiding the reader to the formation of a sound opinion on the great questions of the day in religion, politics, art, literature and science. We do not know how ten dollars could be more profitably invested by any one capable of reading and thinking than in subscribing to these reprints.

"When I goes shopping," said an old lady, "I allers asks for what I wants, and if they have it, and it's suitable, and I feel inclined to buy it and it's cheap, and can't be got at any other place for less, I most allers takes it, without chapping about it all day, as most people does."

AN UNFORTUNATE THIEF.—The Philadelphia Sunday Mercury tells a good story of a fellow in that city, who a few days since, stole a finklin of butter from a grocery store and ran off with it on his shoulder. When the butter was missed, the thief was of course pursued by the police and a crowd of men and boys, crying "stop thief!" Being strong and fleet of foot, the rogue had every prospect of escaping, but in an unlucky moment, he attempted to shift his load from one shoulder to the other, and in so doing passed it under his nose, when he declared in the Mayor's office the scent of the butter was so powerful that immediately knocked him down. This of course, enabled the crowd to overtake and capture him.

YOUNG BONAPARTE.—Marshal Pelissier has recently conferred on young Lieut. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, formerly of Baltimore, the decoration of the Legion of Honor, "for great zeal and activity in the performance of his duties during the entire campaign."

"Tom," said a man to his friend, "I think it highly dangerous to keep the hill of small banks on hand now a-days." "I," replied Tom, "find it more difficult than dangerous."

The two Dixons.—"I remember," said the late Postmaster General of the United States, "the first time I visited Burlington, Vt., as Judge of the Supreme Court. I had left it many years before a poor boy.—At the time I left there were two families of special note for their standing and wealth. Each of them had a son about my own age. I was very poor, and these boys were very rich. During the long years of hard toil which passed before my return, I had almost forgotten them. They had long ago forgotten me."

Approaching the court-house, for the first time, in company with several gentlemen of the bench and bar, I noticed, in the court-yard, a pile of old furniture about to be sold at auction.—The scenes of early boyhood with which I was surrounded prompted me to ask whose it was. I was told it belonged to Mr. J. Mr. J? I remember a family of that name, very wealthy, there was a son too: can it be he? I was told it was even so. He was the son of one of the families alluded to. He had inherited more money than I had earned, and spent all; and now his own family was reduced to real want, and his fortune was that day to be sold for debt.—I went into the court-house suddenly, yet almost glad that I was born poor. I was soon absorbed in the business before me.—One of the first cases called originated in a low drunken quarrel between Mr. H. and Mr. A. Mr. H., that is, that is a familiar name. Can it be? In short I found it was the son of the other wealthy man referred to. I was overwhelmed alike with astonishment and thanksgiving—astonishment at the change of our relative position, and thanksgiving that I was not born to inherit wealth without toil.

Those fathers provide best for their children who save them with the higher education, the purer morals, and—the least money.

The depth of the Niagara River, under Suspension Bridge, is estimated by engineers to be 700 feet. This is deeper than any other rapidly running stream in the world.

ST. PAUL'S MIN., Dec 12.

SIR JOHN FRANKLIN.—Mr. Stewart arrived from Red River last evening, on his way to Canada, bearing dispatches for Sir George Simpson, containing information of the discovery of the point where Sir John Franklin perished. It was on the coast opposite Montreal Island. Their bones lie buried in the sand within an extent of 12 miles. This is the fifth winter since they perished, and the drifting sands of that barren region, being in lat. 68° north, have piled in successive layers on the bones of these noble and ill-fated men.

Mr. Stewart describes the region as dreary in the extreme. Not a blade of grass nor a stick of timber met the eye; no game of any kind could be found. He was informed by the Esquimaux that they (the Esquimaux) reached the spot just in time to see the last man die of hunger, who was leaning against some object when discovered. He was to a far gone to be saved.—Mr. Stewart has brought home the remains of a bear having the name of Sir John Franklin on it, a hammer, kettles, part of a blue flag, and other articles belonging to the unfortunate vessel.

A REMEDY WHICH CURES IN FIVE MINUTES.—M. LEROUX'S
French Cider Cognac Bitter.—This truly wonderful scientific compound is recommended by the most eminent and learned physicians of Europe and America, and enjoys the best reputation of anything similar ever offered. It is without doubt the best, most efficient and generally acknowledged remedy against cholera, dysentery, diarrhea, and the complaints of the stomach in general. The numerous patients who have tried it according to directions have invariably found relief in a very short time, and the best proof of it is, that since this standard remedy was introduced in the annals of the Alma in the Crimen, the mortality of the sufferer
from cholera and similar diseases was diminished by over 75 per cent; in consideration of which, the inventor was presented by the French and English governments with a gold medal, bearing the inscription, "M. L. Leroix, the great chemist and inventor, by whose knowledge our armies are preserved from cholera."

time. It flows from the pen freely, matches quill, it matters not which, and inks neither pen, nor paper,—then being no acid, whatever
in the preparation, and is of the most durable durability. It is one of the best writing fluids
